

ATI (Asociación de Técnicos de Informática) joins CECUA as a new member

ATI is the largest, oldest, most active and influential of the associations of information technology professionals existing in Spain. Founded in 1967, ATI has permanent offices in Barcelona (Headquarters), Madrid and Valencia. www.ati.es

CECUA was founded in 1983. Since then CECUA has been focusing on presenting and advocating issues of concern and interests to users, both private and corporate ones. Today CECUA is a modern virtual organization connecting associations and persons across Europe and beyond using information technology as a vehicle. CECUA is a member of EIF and EURid. www.cecua.eu

Prof. Dr. Jon Thorhallsson, President of CECUA commented

„I am very pleased to welcome ATI as a CECUA member. With help of ATI CECUA will be able to extend its scope of activities and cover a broader range of user issues and reach out more across national and geographical boundaries and better present opinions and perspectives from Spain and other Spanish speaking countries“.

Mr. Dídac López, President of ATI commented

"We like to positively influence society, and not only as an association of ICT professionals only concerned about the technology. We hope that by working with CECUA we can help to improve society"
